Gleichen Subscribes

$8,955.25 to The Y.

M. C. A. Fund

The Gleichen Y. M. C. A. fund continues to grow daily and it is difficult to tell just when it will stop as every day the collectors find some one they missed and others come in wanting to help. However, it is thought nearly all have now given and yesterday morning Treasurer Lett stated he had then cash and promises amounting to $8,955.25.

Mr. Lett has asked for the publication of the appended, but the list is such a long one that it doubtful if our limited space will conclude it even next issue:

It is with sincere gratitude that we acknowledge the receipt of the undernoted payments and subscrip- to the Y. M. C. A. Red Triangle Fund.

We also wish to express our thanks to the following gentlemen who furnished autos and time in making collections:

Messrs. Glen House, Geo. Taylor, Roy Allen, S. A. Hall, W. H. James, Jas. Young, T. Henderson, T. H. Beach, N. W. McMillan, John Dafeo, R. B. Hayes, H. Scott, D. McBean, B. S. Corey, M. Bollinger, W. D. Tre- go, A. R. Tudhope, Jas. Cameron, J. A. Ramsay, T. W. Kidney, G. T. Jones, B. Ramsbottom.

We also wish to express special thanks to the pupils of the Gleichen school for the trouble they took in collecting the very large donation of $103.10.

Cluny Commercial Club Dance Friday, May 24th

Tomorrow night—Friday, Victoria Day—is destined to be marked in the history of Cluny, Gleichen's nearest eastern rival. A short time ago Cluny organised a Board of Trade, which promises to be a very live institution and as that town is located in the heart of one of the richest agricultural sections of America and has other advantages there is an abundance of material to work on.

Tomorrow night the Cluny Board of Trade will make its first bow to the public at a dance to be given by three C's—the Cluny Commercial Club—when something new is to be staged, which must remain a mystery until the hour arrives as all the Board will give out is that there is a real treat in store for all.

The dance will start prompt at 9 o'clock in the new Billiard Hall, where ample room is provided for all who attend, and where an excellent floor and every other accommodation for the guests will be found. Mrs. Trainor and her full orchestra has been engaged and the ladies of the Cluny Red Cross will supply the supper.

In the past Cluny has most generously supported everything in Gleichen and tomorrow night the Board of Trade anticipate that Gleichen will reciprocate by being present in large numbers.

A meeting of the Gleichen Fire Brigade will be held in the Town Hall tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. to discuss important business. Be sure and be there.

We noticed one of our reliable farmers a few days ago bring back to Ramsay's Busy Store seven sacks of flour. He remarked: "Since we fellows can't go and fight the least we can do is obey the government regulations. I had too much flour in stock at home and am returning this much to Ramsay". From all reports in town heard more farmers should do likewise as they are liable to a heavy fine.

Now is the time to have those pictures framed. All kinds of on hand, see G. W. Evans.

Some More Waste

BY JOHN GLAMBACK

A week ago myself and several of the neighbors were hauling baled hay out from Cluny, paying $24 per ton off the cars, wild hay at that. Going towards the new bridge we travelled through a part of the Indian Reserve where there were thousands of tons of grass going to waste some of it has never been cut is but rotting on the ground. I could not but wonder at this great conserving and saving we are advised to do by the government officials. This saving of a teaspoonful of sugar and table-spoonful of flour a day and other little things while all this hay is going to waste and us paying $24 per ton. Last year we would have been glad to have paid the government something for the privilege of cutting some of this hay but nothing doing. Now most of this valuable feed is being plowed under or burnt over as the land is being broken up. The breaking of the land is a good thing but it would still have been better if the Indian Department would have allowed the grass to be cut during the later years when the farmers have had no hay.

Mr. Lasher of Calgary, was a visitor to Gleichen this week.

Hector Lehan, the Grant Six salesman, was a guest at the Palace for a few days.

J. Ballock of Strathmore paid Gleichen a visit last week.

A. Baker, of Warwick, N. D. was one of the few land-seekers that visited Gleichen this week.

E. S. Clany, of Calgary, was a guest at the Palace on Monday.

C. B. Arbogast, superintendent of the Home Grain Co., paid a visit to Gleichen and Cluny this week.

Chas. Millie, of Piepot, visited Gleichen this week, renewing old acquaintances.

John Johansen, of Standard, returned from his holidays this week and looks well.

H. E. Beattie, of Bow Island, paid Gleichen a visit this week.

Annual School Sports This Afternoon

The Gleichen public school second annual sports day will be held this afternoon, Thursday, on the school grounds. The sports will take the form running, three-legged sack and horse races, jumping and skipping contests, etc. All the parents and friends of the children are cordially invited to attend.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Rev. C. H. Kerr, of Okotoks, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church next Sunday, May 26th.

Jack McDowell returned to Gleichen Tuesday. After meandering for a couple of years through numerous States he finds Alberta the best to live in.

Mr. Rhodes, who for several years was on the local staff of the Bank of Commerce, has been promoted to inspector and is paying the Gleichen bank an official visit. He was very popular here and his many friends are pleased to meet him again. On Monday evening Mrs. Jowett entertained a number of friends at her home in his honor.

Alfred Guay left last week to join the Flying Corps, being the first Gleichen volunteer accepted. He is a young man who may be depended upon to give a good account of himself. This is the first result of Mr. Cameron's efforts and we have reason to think that some who applied elsewhere might have done better had they applied to him.

Sergt. Oscar Sampson has returned from France and is now on his farm near Cluny. He expects the discharge daily and is wearing his medal presented him by King George for bravery. We hope to have his verbal story of how he stopped a runaway train from running into three cars loaded with ammunition and saved hundreds of soldiers lives, but he tells it very modestly.

East Arrowwood

A. G. Salter went to High River Sunday.

Where have last winter's prayer-meetings gone?

Clayton Shatto is sporting a Ford. He has the one formerly owned by C. M. Whisler.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allstott are the possessors of a fine new baby girl. They have named it Katy.

Floyd Robinson was on the sick list the latter part of last week. A troublesome tooth was the source of his trouble.

Much to the regret of everyone, Mrs. L. H. Irwin has been partially sick the past few days. Her condition is reported better.

Miss Elva Shatto, who has spent several months in Chicago attending school, was called home on account of the death of her little sister. She will not return to her school until next September. Miss Shatto is popular with all that know her.

Inspector A. J. Watson of High River visited the East Arrowwood school Friday, May 3. His is the only visit the school house has ever had by an inspector. He has planned on spending Thursday of this week with the school and addressing the rate payers of the community in the evening on consolidation.

U. F. A. meeting on Monday, May 6, was well attended. Several came from other districts. In the election of officers M. C. Miller and A. G. Salter were re-elected for president and secretary respectively for the ensuing year. A proposition was discussed to furnish the surrounding with a telephone. The plan under consideration is to use private capital for the undertaking. Those proposing the plan have secured adequate information as to the cost and construction of the proposed system.

There is no more punctuality among the attendance of S. S. and church since the time was made an hour later than before. The same people are late that were late. These same people would be late even if the hour was made two or three hours later. In removing an effect the cause must first be removed.

An Enjoyable Barn Dance

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McPhee gave another barn dance last Friday evening at their home eight miles northwest of town, when a crowd of about one hundred young folks enjoyed themselves until nearly dawn. A feature of the evening was the collection in aid of the Red Cross. At this writing the total amount is not known by the writer, but there was a good sprinkling of "greenbacks". Every preparation had been made for the enjoyment of the guests, the great haymow being swept clean, seats provided and a piano hoisted into it. The music was excellent and of great variety, all the professionals present taking turns at violin and piano. At midnight a bounteous supper was served and most heartily partaken of, which was generously supplied by the wives and daughters of the district. So thoroughly was the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McPhee enjoyed that all are in hopes that that this will not be the only barn dance of the season. So much absorbed were two carloads of young people with the evening's enjoyment that when they started for Gleichen they started north toward Standard and after running about six miles noticed the lack of fences before discovering their mistake.

BUY AN IRRIGATED FARM BECAUSE:

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and in sure good crops, not occasionally, but every year.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures good returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the years that it has been tried having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices up to $50 per acre, with 20 years to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000 for improvements

(6% interest) no principle after first payment until end of fourth year, reduced interest if settlement conditions are complied and no water rental for first year. Contract can be paid off before maturity if desired.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. For full particulars apply to

The Ford is Now Considered a Necessity for Large-Scale Farming

WHETHER you are doing work on a large scale, or a small scale, you endeavor to reduce the delays of your farm machinery to a minimum and save time. A Ford will assist you in doing these two things.

If your tractor runs short of gasoline, the Ford will bring a few cans right to the spot and greatly shorten the delay. Or if you need a repair, or some new plow points, you can "run" the errand to town and back in one-third the time it would take with a horse and rig.

With a Ford you can supervise the work on your ranch much more thoroughly. You can get your mail and supplies oftener, and take more enjoyment out of prairie life. A Ford will do all these things and many more, and at the same time save you money.

The strength and endurance of the Ford has been proved the world over. It is equal to the western roads and the distances.

The Ford is the car for the Western Farmer.

ECONOMY applied with a Paint Brush

THE great national duty to-day is to "conserve." It's a duty you owe yourself as well as your country. A duty just as applicable to a house, or building, as it is to the things you eat and wear. Buildings, in fact, show so tremendous an increase in cost, that the importance of keeping them protected is apparent to all who know how steel, wood, brick and cement have jumped in price. And the cheapest protection you can give a building is the kind you apply with a brush—PAINT. For true protection, scorn the ineffectual, cheap paints. Use only

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT
70% Pure White Lead (Brandram's Genuine B.B.)
30% Pure White Zinc
100% Pure Paint

The kind we guarantee to possess as its important base, the above correct formula. This formula, printed on every can, and guaranteed over our President's signature, commits us to this standard. High in cost as white lead has become, we must use it in the same proportion as heretofore. To use less of it, would necessitate the removal of the guarantee from our cans—and to do that would injure the reputation that these paints have acquired by reason of their superior ingredients. It is by using pure white lead and pure white zinc in such liberal quantities that we have been able to produce a paint that truly excels in covering capacity—and that stands the severe "climate test" of Canada in a way that spells true economy for all who use it.

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED

"And I shall not re-enter," said the other. "We know where to meet—tomorrow."

He moved to the door. Barthelmy called him back.

"There is nothing you want to take?" he enquired suggestively.

The man smiled.

"Nothing. I have always been prepared."

"I, too," said Barthelmy. "Well, go then."

The man went out, and Barthelmy presently rose and making his way to the club, lingered for a minute in its hall. It was just eleven o'clock, the door had that moment been thrown open, and early arrivals were coming in. There was nothing unusual about the appearance of the place; the servants were coming and going; pretty women were passing upstairs to the supper rooms; men were approaching the bar which opened out of the hall; everything seemed to be moving on the usual well-oiled wheels. Barthelmy could have shed tears to think that this well-contrived, well-managed business might at any moment be thrown into confusion, brought to ruin. It was wicked—it was cruel—it was stupid.

He lingered a moment longer, exchanging nods and smiles with the people who passed him; then he went up to the room which his assistant had spoken of, locked himself into it, and turned on the electric light. From the darkness he looked out through the blinds upon the lighted street below.

There was nothing in what he saw to alarm Barthelmy or to excite undue curiosity in his mind. That was a quiet street on which the club, fronted; it led to nowhere in particular, and was not on the way between any two principal thoroughfares. It was indeed never so busy as at this hour, when people began coming to the Amaranth Club. And on this night there was just the usual coming and going; automobiles, taxi cabs, hansom cabs, privates carrying came and went, their lamps flitting about in the gloom like fireflies. There was no special stress of the traffic thus made, nothing to denote anything exceptional. The night was, in this respect, as all other nights were.

But the man watching eagerly and with straining attention from behind his blinds was not concerned with the vehicles which brought the moths and butterflies, the hawks and pigeons of London night life to the door beneath him. He knew their object, their business, their pleasure. What he was concerned with was the possible presence of enemies. Scarcely a pedestrian passed along that side of the street which he could see; those who came in sight upon it, crossed it on their way to the club. He began to imagine things. He fancied that eyes, fierce, malignant, were watching him, and the house next door, and the medicated bath establishment next door to the house from the windows of the opposite houses, that in the dark doorways figures lurked hidden, spying, peeping, biding their time. He began to feel as a man feels who walks through a shadowy wood and becomes obsessed with the idea that an enemy is hidden behind every tree or every bush. And he stirred impatiently and wondered how long he was to wait for the agreed-upon signal from the emissary.

The emissary came into view at last, strolling slowly along the opposite side of the street; Barthelmy knew him by his gait and figure. He came abreast of the club, he paused—was he going to make that signal or not? In the gloom of the street he paused, he stopped—he appeared to be fumbling in a pocket. And suddenly a red glow of light spluttered and hissed across the way. So—there was danger!

Barthelmy lost no time. He watched the fusee throw off its last glowing spark; he saw the emissary stroll on ward, puffing at his cigar, then he let himself out of the room, switched on the electric light as he passed the door, and went downstairs. And at the foot of the stairs an attendant stopped him.

"There's Miss Linkinshaw looking for you, sir," he said. "She wants to see you particularly."

"I cannot see anyone—I am very busy," answered Barthelmy, passing on. "You must tell her."

But at that moment Lydia Linkinshaw pulled his sleeve with one hand and pushed a note before him with the other.

"Guess you're not too busy to read that, Mr. Barthelmy," she said. "Get it read—quick!"

She was gone before Barthelmy could speak to her, and as he tore open the note he saw her run out of the half door and jump into her motor car. As she whirled off he looked down at the scrap of paper she had left him and recognized Banister King's handwriting. He held it up to the nearest light and read:

"You are in great and immediate peril. Don't waste a moment, but get out of that and come round to my place at once, where you will be safe. Hurry!"

It was characteristic of Barthelmy that he immediately crumpled this note in his hand, stepped over to the open fire and dropped the scrap of paper into the flames. Then he turned and went, by ways only known to himself, into his own house and away.

CHAPTER XXXV. His Own Hand

Banister King sat, quiet and expectant, in his own rooms. When he had first set up his tent there he had exercised both care and ingenuity in making his chambers sound proof, and although at that hour of the late evening there was always a great rush of wheeled traffic in the immediate surroundings of Jeremy street, he heard nothing of it. The atmosphere of that sitting room was peaceful as a hermit's cave on the slope of a lonely mountain. That, however, was all of the hermit-suggestion that it possessed; otherwise it was suggestive of luxury. There was a bright and cheery fire in the grate; there was a spirit case on the table; there were cigars and cigarettes and syphons and glasses to keep it company. Also on the table was the crystalized dial image which Richard Avery had found keeping Banister King in countenance on the evening on which he had called on him to suggest his doubts of the Amaranth Club. And before it, sending up wicked-looking spirals of smoke into the faint, opalescent light of the room stood the arabesque incense burner.

As for King, he sat doing nothing. He had a strange prescience that nothing would go wrong with the plan he had laid. Lydia Linkinshaw would keep her word—whatever her other small failings might be. She always kept her word when it was once given. She would hand his note to Barthelmy at what King felt sure would be the critical moment. And Barthelmy would be sure to come—would be glad to come; it was a conviction with King that in the fit scheme of things Barthelmy would have to come.

Barthelmy was here now. There was a faint, a very faint tap on the outer door, a feeling about, a rustling—King had purposely left open his inner door and his parlor door in order to catch the first sound of his visitor's arrival. It was as if a hunted beast had arrived, and was nervously scratching on a threshold which might be neighborly and might not; there was a suggestion of fear in Barthelmy's gentle knocking.

How to Grow Potatoes

Valuable Information Given in Recently Published Government Bulletin

When three hundred and thirty-two years ago, Sir Walter Raleigh introduced the potato into this continent into Ireland, nobody could have foreseen or even imagined the immense part that it would come to play in feeding the world. It was nearly eighty years before the royal society of England took up the cultivation of the potato as a cheap food in case of famine. In another eighty years, famine in Scotland brought the potato into extensive notice as a cheap article of food. Another thirty years saw France taking notice of its value. Mr. W. T. Macoun, the Dominion horticulturist, briefly explains all this in a hundred-page bulletin recently issued by the department of agriculture, Ottawa, in which is also given complete and comprehensive information as to the cultivation of the potato. Mr. Macoun goes fully into his subject, dealing with the preparation of the soil, of the varieties of seedlings, of the manner and method of planting, of protection against insect pests and diseases, of the time to plant, of the districts best suited to the different varieties, of the care that should be taken during growth, and of garnering, storing, and shipping. Particulars are also given of the results of experiments and tests made at the experimental farms and stations throughout the Dominion. In short, pretty well everything in the shape of information that is of value to potato growers will be found in this interesting and instructive bulletin. It is to be found in this bulletin that can be had free on addressing the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

Their Heart's Touch

This is the wonderful observation of a 16-year-old French girl who has written to a prominent war worker in Washington: "There is a river in France so narrow that you can talk across it, birds can fly across it with one sweep of their wings. There are great armies on either bank. They are as far apart as the stars in the sky—as right and wrong. There is a great ocean—it is so wide that the sea gulls cannot fly across it without resting. Upon either shore there are great nations. They are so close, however, that their hearts' touch." From the Brownsville Herald.

Old Folks' Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis Quickly Cured

This Tells of a Method That Cures Without Using Drugs

Elderly people take cold easily. Unlike young folks, they recover slowly. This is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia.

Cough Syrups seldom do much good because they upset digestion. Any doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHOZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich, piny balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

A Catarrhozone Inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00, and supplies treatment for two months, small size, 50c; trial size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

What the Plough Is Supposed to Do

Various Types of Ploughs for the Various Kinds of Land to Be Ploughed

Aside from crumbling the soil, the chief objects of ploughing are to destroy wild plants so that cultivated ones may take their place; and to bury trash, manure, stubble and potato vines. A plough that does not accomplish these things is faulty. All refuse should be completely covered so that it will not be brought to the surface by the harrow. To bury weeds, clover or other tall green manure crops, a chin should be used, one end attached to the plough beam the other to the double tree, thus allowing the loop to pull the tall plants down into the furrow to be covered.

The joiner or skin-coupler is little used in many districts. Many farmers do not even know what it is. When manure, stubble or grass is to be turned under, it is a very useful attachment. It skims a shallow furrow slice and deposits it in the bottom of the furrow, where it is covered by the main furrow slice and will rot more readily. When stubble or grass is ploughed without a joiner, there is likely to be a line of it between the furrows, which interferes with the harrow or begins to grow and cause trouble. This is a common sight, but could, and should, be overcome by the use of the joiner. The implement dealers of the country could perform a distinct service to agriculture by encouraging the general use of joiners on plows. There should be one on every farm.

It is well to have various types of plows for the various kinds of land to be plowed. This costs more, but greater efficiency results. A sod plow will not do good work in soft, stubble lands, nor will a stubble plow perform well in stiff sod. From "Handbook for Farmers," published by the Commission of Conservation.

France!

"Bled white!" they said, now months ago. Yet forward, France steps into the battle. Sheer intellect, sheer soul, she stands before our blurred eyes today—calm, radiant, unconquerable as right and beauty and truth.—New York Tribune.

MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale and simply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring house-cleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It druggists do not keep this in their forms, send 50 cents for a trial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch in Bridgeburg, Ont.

CENTRAL BUTTE, SASK.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a number of years and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boy. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results. In fact, I do not think he would be alive to-day had it not been for the 'Medical Discovery.' I also keep it on hand for coughs as it differs so from other medicines, instead of upsetting the stomach as cough syrups do it is good for the stomach. I only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—Mrs. FARRER WOOD.

What Women Want to Know

Some Queries and Answers Regarding Conservation of Food

Lillias. Yes, you can send maple sugar to the front and there is no sweet that will be more appreciated. It is better adapted for transit than chocolate and you may be sure that it will make your brother think of sugaring time in the bush when he was a youngster and there was no thought of a world-wide war. There will be plenty of maple sugar and syrup this year if the farmer lives up to expectations. The season has so far been an ideal one for tapping.

Domestic. You are fortunate to have such a good supply of potatoes. It should stand you in good stead during the next few weeks when all over the Dominion a potato campaign will be in progress. Canadians do not half realize the usefulness of the humble potato. Its possibilities are endless. It stands pre-eminent among the vegetables for food. It must be remembered that the most nourishing part of the potato lies next the skin in the shape of an acid juice which passes into the water during boiling and escapes with the steam from a baked potato. The composition of potatoes is as follows: Water, 78.9%; starch, 18%; protein, 2.4%; mineral matter, .9%; and fat 1%.

If you are tired of cooking potatoes in the same old way why not try a few new methods? For instance, have you tried potato omelet? You prepare mashed potatoes, turn them into a hot omelet, cook well greased, spread evenly, cook slowly until browned underneath and fold as an omelet.

Delmonico Potatoes: To creamed potatoes and bread crumbs, add one-third cup grated milk, cheese, arranging potatoes and cheese in alternate layers before covering with crumbs.

Mrs. Brown. In reply to your query the following scale may, somewhat surprise you. It shows that despite Canada's natural advantages of soil, German farmers harvest between one-half and two-thirds more bushels per acre than do the Canadian farmers.

Wheat, Germany, 35.1; Canada, 21.04; rye, Germany, 30.4; Canada, 19.28; barley, Germany, 41.3; Canada, 29.06; oats, Germany, 61.1; Canada, 38.78; potatoes, Germany, 235.3; Canada, 165.8.

Enquirer. You are quite mistaken in your assumption that the Canada food board is a financial burden to the country. As pointed out by Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of agriculture, in the house of commons the other day, the fees collected under the new licensing system more than cover the total expenditure of the board.

Miss Roberts. You will be pleased to know that new and drastic regulations have been issued by the Canada food board to govern public eating houses of all kinds. "Definite hours are fixed for meals and the serving of meats is regulated to certain meals and certain days. The amount of bread served is strictly limited, as is also the amount of butter and of the various meats. Waste of food in the kitchen or elsewhere is made an offence under the new regulations and waiters, cooks and stewards are made personally responsible as well as proprietors and managers. These regulations apply to all eating houses in the country as well as in the city and copies of the order in council giving the regulations in full may be secured from the food board upon application.

Mrs. B. E. Judging from the tone of your letters you cannot have heard of the new waste and hoarding regulations recently issued by the Canada food board. Under these it is your bounden duty to report either to the provincial or municipal authorities the case of which you speak. Every woman who knows of hoarding or waste has a duty resting on her to bring the law to bear on the culprit.

Farmer's Wife. The boys of Canada are repulsing magnificent to the call from the front. The S.O.S. has not been in vain. They are lining up in all the provinces and it is expected that the original estimate of 25,000 will be far surpassed. In several towns and cities in Ontario 100 per cent of the eligible students in the high schools and collegiate institutes are reported as having enrolled. The farmer and his wife need have no fear of lacking help for all these eager young boys with their ability and their enthusiasm are on hand.

Jean. The advice of Hon. Charles A. Dunning to the men of Canada answers your question pretty well as far as the women are concerned. too. He says: "I have no cut and dried scheme, whereby a magic wand can be waved and the production of food increased fifty per cent. The only way that we can bring that about is for every man to do a little here, a little there, and with every body of men in the country helping."

The Prussian Way

Scores of German prisoners of war, officers and men—among the ungrateful captain von Mueller of the Emden—have tried to escape from English camps and received mild punishment for the attempt. A young Swede named Holmberg, an allied prisoner in Germany, has just been given a three years' penal servitude for endeavoring to gain his liberty. Germans are sorely upset over the escape of Garros, the famous French aviator. The Lokal-Anzeiger describes it as a mystery, "as undoubtedly much sharper watch was kept after Holmberg's failure to get away."

His Preference

"Bobby" said to a friend to a six-year-old boy, "I hear you are going to school now."

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"What part of school do you like best, then?"

"Comin' home," was the prompt reply.—Kansas City Star.

War and Food

No. 15—EGGS

To talk to the farm woman about eggs is like bringing coals to Newcastle and yet there are aspects of the egg business of which she never thinks, so much is it a matter of course to her to see the eggs being shipped to the city. It is estimated that about 95 per cent of the eggs sold in Canada come from the farms and the remainder from small poultry-keepers in villages, towns and cities. Most of the farm eggs pass through the hands of the country storekeepers. From them they go to the wholesale house. Finally they are wholesaled and turned over to the jobber, or the retail trade, or put into cold storage to be kept for winter use.

The most natural place for the farmer to sell his eggs is at the country store. Here he has the least trouble and gets the quickest returns either in trade or cash, whichever he prefers.

It is estimated that the greatest number of bad eggs which come on the market are in that state because of conditions on the farm. A small percentage of the blame is attached to the country store and still less is attributed to conditions under which eggs are shipped, or the loss that occurs in transit.

In taking measures to prevent losses of this kind the first step must be taken by the farmer. In spring the losses are considerable, but as warmer weather comes they grow heavier and heavier. The following are some pointers for the farmer and his wife on how to get the best results with their hens:

- (1) Keep the poultry house clean.
- (2) Separate the roosters from the hens after the hatching season.
- (3) Provide plenty of clean straw on the floor and in the nests.
- (4) Do not allow broody hens on the nests.
- (5) "Break them up" by putting in boxes with slatted bottoms raised off the floor.
- (6) Gather the eggs twice a day.
- (7) Keep them in a cool, dry place.
- (8) Sell them twice a week if possible.
- (9) Use clean cases and fillers.
- (10) Sell only the best eggs, candling out any poor ones and also all small eggs.

Friendly Criticism

"I hear that Swiddell has written a new three-act comedy."

"Yes; he read it to me and two other of his oldest friends yesterday."

"And what did you think of it?"

"Well, at three thoughts one of the acts superfluous."

"Which act was that?"

"Oh, we each chose a different act."—London Opinion.

A War of Corruption

German Bribery and Corruption Responsible for Any Gains Made

"Look at the situation at the end of 1917, after the war has been carried on for three years and a half. What has been Germany's really important conquest in this struggle? It has been Russia. And how has she conquered Russia? Not by warfare, but by corruption. In the beginning the Russian armies, though inferior to the German military fitness and in morale, had the upper hand in East Prussia. Then a sort of paralysis seemed to blight them, and the German generals, who had retreated from them at the start, overwhelmed them at the Mauerzaur Lakes."

"Subsequently we have learned that this paralysis, which became chronic, was caused by treachery, and treachery was caused by German bribes."—William Roscoe Trayner, in The Saturday Evening Post for February 16.
